Blues Trivia

Q: Which famous Blues Musician was credited by a New York Dance Company as the inspiration for the invention of the Fox Trot dance step?

A: W.C. Handy's 1912 publication of the "Memphis Blues" sheet music was considered the Fox Trot inspiration. This sheet introduced his 12-bar musical style to many households. He sold the rights to this song for $100 and by 1914 at 40 years old, his style was set and he became increasingly popular.
